Welcome to OPFA's website. We hope your visit will be useful. OPFA and other organisations who support local voluntary and community organisations want to research the need for a new website to help guide anyone who wants to access information about, or for, community and voluntary groups in Oxfordshire. The focus is on providing a quick, easy route to the right information for anyone who needs it.

On behalf of the partner organisations Oxfordshire Community and Voluntary Action has commissioned Insight Oxford to conduct an independent customer survey. We want to understand how different customers want to access information about voluntary and community services and to gain a snapshot of the demand for different types of information and services.

For this to be successful, we need as many people, who are involved or interested in community and/or voluntary activities, to take part. Your feedback is extremely valuable, so please take about 10 – 15 minutes now to have your say (and be entered for the free prize draw!) by completing the on-line survey.
